DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

I. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I in the reply filed on April 1, 2005 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the inventions are not both independent and distinct. This is not found persuasive because the product can be made by a materially different method as described in the March 8, 2005 restriction requirement. The fact that there may be some overlap in the search is immaterial, there is no requirement that the inventions be free of overlapping search.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- II. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- A. Claims 1, 11-16 and 45 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Patterson et al. US No. 4,508,375 ("Patterson"), in view of Butler, US No. 4,696,499 ("Butler").

Patterson discloses a radially expandable threaded tubular assembly comprising: a radially expandable male threaded element having external male threading and a first free end.

the external male threading including a first incomplete thread and a first hooked thread, the first incomplete thread being located at least adjacent the first free end of said male threaded element; a radially expandable female threaded element having internal female threading and a second free end, the internal female threading including a second incomplete thread and a second hooked thread, the second incomplete thread being located at least adjacent the second free end of said female threaded element, said female threaded element being threadedly engaged with said male threaded element (FIG. 4);

Patterson does not disclose an elastomeric sealant extending between the external male threading and the internal female threading and adhering to both the external male threading and the internal female threading.

Butler discloses such an arrangement in order to prevent fluid leakage between the joint (Col. 3, lines 29-30 and 33-35).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to modify Patterson as taught by Butler in order to prevent fluid leakage between the joint.

B. Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Patterson et al. US No. 4,508,375 ("Patterson"), in view of Flagg, US No. 2,145,168 ("Flagg").

Application/Control Number: 10/700,484 Page 4

Art Unit: 3676

Patterson discloses the same assembly as described above except for the first and second metallic coatings disposed respectively on male and female threads.

Flagg disclose such a coating in order to maintain an absolute seal and prevent leakage (Page 1, para. 1, line 8).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to modify Patterson as taught by Flagg in order to maintain an absolute seal and prevent leakage.

- C. Claims 2-10 and 46-47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Patterson and Butler as applied to claims 1, 11-16 and 45 above, and further as a matter of optimization.
- 1. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the sealant to find the optimum range in which sealing occurs, since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involve only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 220 F.2d 454, 456, 105 USPQ 233,235 (CCPA 1955)
- D. Claims 18-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Patterson and Flagg as applied to claim 17 above, and further as a matter of optimization.
- 2. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the coating to find the optimum range in which sealing occurs, since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involve only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 220 F.2d 454, 456, 105 USPQ 233,235 (CCPA 1955)
